Welcome to our Offer Holder's Day

Saturday 20th April 2024

When you join us at AECC University College you aren't just studying at a specialist health institution with an international reputation for musculoskeletal health education, you're working alongside future friends and taking the first step into your career.

Below we've provided an overview of timings and activities* which are taking place during the day. You'll be getting involved in our specialist health sciences facilities, visiting our onsite clinics, listening to taster-lectures from our expert staff, joining in with activities and experiencing our close, tight-knit community on campus. Our academics will also deliver a short anatomy and practical session for you to get involved in.

We hope you have a great time.
